Dear Ms. Polto:

On Saturday, October 13, 2007 doors were opened and barriers broken because participants in the "5th Annual Living The Dream Home Buyers Conference and Credit Clinic" were ushered into the possibility of home ownership. It was mostly your willingness and generosity of spirit in sharing your expertise that made it possible for conferees to believe that becoming a home owner could be more than just a dream.

Those attending the Conference continue to express their excitement about what they learned and how knowledgeable those presenting the information were. For those who have experienced credit difficulties, those who may not have considered purchasing homes because they felt that their incomes would not allow them to or those who may not have been sure how to begin the process, options were offered and opportunities explored. A plethora of information was provided, enabling those who wished to advance to the next level in the home buying process to do so.

Thank you for the time you took from your busy schedule to share your vast knowledge, experience and skill with conference participants. I look forward to our next opportunity to work together and sincerely appreciate your continued willingness to be a source of enlightenment.

Sincerely,

DWIGHT EVANS
